Notice of Availability

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Albuquerque District, has completed the Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) entitled "Wastewater Treatment Plant Improvement, Village of Pecos, San Miguel County, New Mexico". The proposed project would provide improvements to the wastewater system. The proposed wastewater improvements would address immediate concerns with effluent non-compliance, bring the wastewater treatment plant into compliance with the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System permit, and improve the reliability of the facility. In addition, the proposed improvements would enable the Village of Pecos to further extend its sewer collection system, preserving ground water and drinking water resources. The proposed project would serve the entire population of Pecos. The proposed construction period is six months and is expected to start in April of 2006.

The DEA is electronically available for viewing and copying at the Albuquerque District website (under "FONSI/ Environmental Assessments") at:
